Oil Strike By 250,000 Authorized

By Associated Press

A nationwide strike of oil workers affecting some 250,000 employees was authorized today as the number of workers made idle by work stoppages swelled to nearly 650,000—more than six times the number involved in the closing months of the war.

Appearing at a government sponsored conciliation conference called to settle a strike of 35,000 oil workers, O. A. Knight, Ft. Worth, Tex., international president of the CIO Oil Workers International Union, said a nationwide work stoppage had been authorized "if this conference fails."

Knight said he had been instructed to call a nation-wide strike by the union's international executive council if necessary "so the full facilities of the union are employed to a successful conclusion."

The nation-wide strike threat was made at a conference which Labor Sec. Schwechenbach told the conferees yesterday "must not be permitted to fail."

The oil strike in seven states—stemming from a union demand for a 30 per cent wage increase—has cut the flow of a large share of the nation's gasoline.

Meanwhile across the nation, postwar labor disputes were directly responsible for keeping more than 350,000 away from work. An additional 250,000 to 300,000 were idle indirectly in New York City where a spectacular strike virtually closed the metropolis' billion dollar garment industry.

A steadily spreading strike of some 15,000 AFL elevator men and building maintenance workers in approximately 1600 office and loft buildings was responsible for the paralyzing effect on business and industrial activity.

Two reasons were advanced for the virtual shutdown of the city's huge clothing center: workers refused to pass picket lines or would not climb long flights of stairs.

The city's billion dollar garment and fur industry was virtually shut down. An embargo was clamped on all incoming express shipments to Bronx and Manhattan.

With the walkout in its third day, there was no indication that either union leaders or representatives of building owners were giving ground.

David Sullivan, president of local 32-B, AFL Building & Service Employees International Union, said officials would meet tonight to consider "a general strike" involving all four boroughs.

Meanwhile, the Regional War Labor Board directed the parties involved in the dispute to appear tomorrow to show cause why the strike should not be terminated immediately.

Meanwhile, in Detroit, the conference between the CIO United Automobile Workers and Chrysler Corp. on the union's demand for a 30 per cent wage hike was shrouded in secrecy.

There were a few bright spots in the dismal labor picture. A few strikes ended, including the three weeks' old walkout of 15,780 CIO United Rubber Workers at the R. F. Goodrich Co.'s six plants in Akron, Ohio.

A shoe repairing firm on the 12th floor of a strike-bound building without elevator service went to great lengths to serve customers.

A 200-foot length of rope was used to lower baskets of shoes to the street when customers telephoned they were below.

Pacific northwest, idling more than 60,000 AFL workers in a wage dispute, was in its third day and there were no immediate indications of a settlement.

Scores of coal mines in Pennsylvania and West Virginia were closed, as 30,000 workers remained off their jobs in supporting supervisors in their demand for recognition of their union, an affiliate of the United Mine Workers.

Quincy Bus Strike Off; Others Keep On

The strike situation in Massachusetts was somewhat eased today through halting of a threatened strike on the Quincy division of the Eastern Mass. St. Railway Co. and reports of progress by the State Board of Arbitration toward settlement of other labor disputes.

The threatened walkout of car and bus operators on the Quincy division, scheduled for 4 a. m. today, would have deprived an estimated 200,000 South Shore residents of their transportation.

It was called off shortly before midnight by union leaders following a session at the State House. Members of the Amalgamated Ass'n of Street Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America, AFL, had protested the company's appointment of Thomas F. Markham of Lowell as superintendent of the Quincy division. Vice-President Fred A. Cummings of the Eastern Mass. said the trustees would meet union officials today to discuss the Markham case.

Isolationism Peril to U. S., Says Truman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—President Truman declared today any swing to isolationism in the United States would put this country on the road to ruin. Then, with machinegun rapidity, he replied to a variety of questions which further revealed some of his plans for American participation in remaking the world order. He said:

1—The disposition of Japan's fleet will be decided by an Allied reparations committee just as in the case of German naval force. This would open the way for both Britain and Russia to claim a share as they did at the Berlin Big Three meeting.

2—In his forthcoming message to Congress on the atomic bomb he will say whether he believes the secrets of the bomb should be divulged to other nations. (See Story on Page 4).

3—The present organization of Japanese occupation under Gen. MacArthur was agreed upon by all governments interested—evidently meaning Russia, Britain and China. Mr. Truman said he had received no proposal for creating an Allied council on Japan.

4—He has no knowledge of any plans for another Big Three meeting.

5—In the President's opinion there is no evidence the Big Five Council of Foreign Ministers in London has "failed"—the word a newsman used in asking the question. Let's wait until we see what are the real results of the meeting before we call it a failure, the President said, and not make a decision on surmises.

The comment on isolationism came in a response to a question as to whether Mr. Truman thought the United States was in a more isolationist mood. He was told Columnist David Lawrence had suggested such a trend in an article published in the Washington Star last night.

Mr. Truman said he did not agree. If we ever get to that point, he said, we're on the road to ruin just as in 1920. (A swing into isolationism following the first World War has been blamed for United States failure to participate actively in world organization efforts.)

Hirohito Due to Call On MacArthur Thursday

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, Sept. 26 (AP)—Unconfirmed Jap reports tonight said Emperor Hirohito would meet Gen. MacArthur tomorrow, presumably at the U. S. embassy, which is the supreme Allied commander's residence. Well-informed sources earlier said such a meeting—unprecedented in modern Japan—was being arranged, but specified no date.

Official Army sources remained silent but MacArthur's public relations office announced correspondents would meet at 9 a. m. tomorrow for instructions "on covering a forthcoming event."

An order of the Allied supreme command today stripped the Jap army and navy of all equipment and directed the forces' food and clothing be turned over to impoverished Jap civilians.

The order commandeered the weapons of the defeated army and navy for the use of Allied occupation forces, for training purposes or for use as war memorials. Supplies be turned over to impoverished civilians who otherwise face possible famine in the winter.

Ike Calls Patton On Carpet for Accounting

FRANKFURT ON MAIN, Sept. 26 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower summoned Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., today to make a personal report on denazification progress in Bavaria.

He called for an immediate report on Nazis still holding office in Third Army territory, and also requested Patton to give a personal accounting of his stewardship in Bavaria early next week. At a press conference called as the result of Patton's recent remark that "Nazism might well be compared to any political parties at home—Republican or Democratic," it was said Eisenhower would permit no modification of his order that Nazis be removed "ruthlessly from public office, regardless of general efficiency."

Patton acknowledged yesterday that his choice of words had been unfortunate.

BERLIN, Sept. 26 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who heads the American military government in Germany under Gen. Eisenhower, said today 50,000 to 60,000 Nazis were under arrest in the United States occupation zone and that the number would increase soon to 100,000.

Clay said every German industrialist or business man down to shop foremen who had belonged to the Nazi party would be discharged and become common laborers in the purge now in progress.

FD Ban Against Franco Revealed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)

—A Roosevelt declaration of policy, stating there is "no place in the community of nations" for the Franco government of Spain, was released today by the State Department.

The basic policy statement was set forth in a letter from President Roosevelt to Ambassador Norman Armour in Madrid last March.

It disclosed some economic actions which might be of assistance to the Spanish people were not being taken because "American sentiment is so profoundly opposed to the present regime in power in Spain."

American opposition, Mr. Roosevelt emphasized, was based on Franco's connections with Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany.

CPL. GEORGE RAUSEO PARTS FROM AMBASSADOR PATRICK HURLEY
Malden Soldier Thanks Benefactor for Plane Trip from China

Cpl. George Rauseo won his race with death today—a 10,000-mile flight from Chungking, China, to the bedside of his critically ill mother in Malden Hospital. "Oh, I'm so happy, so happy, so happy!" she sobbed over and over again as she clung weakly to him when he knelt at her bedside and clasped her in his strong young arms, showering her with kisses and endearments.

"I'm home, mother! I'm home!" he exclaimed softly, again and again.

She had been asking for him constantly, ever since her sons and daughter told her he was winging his way homeward across the Pacific, a lowly corporal but the guest of an ambassador, as Maj. Gen. Patrick Hurley made room for him in his transport after learning of Mrs. Rauseo's serious illness.

Only this morning nurses had told her he might be home today or tomorrow. They didn't dare set any definite time, although they were pretty sure it would be this afternoon. They were afraid a disappointment might be a shock to the sheer will power with which she has been clinging to life since news of his homecoming was given to her.

The young corporal made the last lap of his journey in a Lockheed transport from Washington to Boston after landing in the capital shortly before 11 a. m. in Ambassador Hurley's Army transport.

As soon as the ambassador's planetaxi to a halt, officers hustled out the corporal, fitted him from head to foot in a brand new uniform, handed him the furlough papers, by which Hurley had arranged by telegraph, and had bundled him into the waiting transport for Boston.

Waiting at Logan Airport were his wife, Viola, whom he has not seen since he shipped for the CBI 20 months ago; his sister, Mrs. Mary Annetti, and two brothers, Nicholas and Angelo, a merchant seaman.

As he stepped from the plane, his wife could no longer restrain herself. Bursting through the gate, she rushed across the concrete runway and clasped him in loving embrace. Sympathetic Army men made no move to halt her.

Speechless for a time at the unexpected welcome from his wife and members of his family, Rauseo finally burst out with:

"How's mother?"

Assured she was still alive, he smiled happily and then shouted: "I got a 45-day furlough! What do you think of that?"

As they headed off the runway, he seemed to forget the world. "This is too much for me," he said. "Seeing everyone like this all at once, I don't know what to say. I want to see mother. Let's get there right away."

He climbed into a waiting auto

"Please hurry," he said as the car started to move.

"This is heaven, after those hell holes in India and China," he ejaculated, looking from the window as the car passed familiar scenes.

He chided his wife and sister gently for not having given him more information about how serious his mother's condition was in their letters.

"We didn't want to worry you," they told him.

"How's the baby?" he asked his wife. "I'll bet he can't recognize me. I'm dying to see him."

"He'll recognize you," his wife assured him. "He kisses your picture every night and calls it Daddy."

"You mean to say he can talk?" he asked, excitedly.

"He can talk and walk, too," his wife said proudly.

"Can you imagine that? Let me at him!"

Their son, Stephen, is 15 months

Quincy Printers Go on Strike

Charging the management had refused to accept conditions of employment embodied in the general laws of the International Typographical Union, 45 employees of the composing room of the Quincy Patriot-Ledger walked out on strike today.

As the printers began picketing the newspaper plant in Temple st., near Quincy sq., the publisher, Prescott Low, announced he was hopeful he would be able to get out a limited, smaller edition today but did not explain how this would be done.

He asserted the walkout came after the printers had refused to submit the difficulties to arbitration.

6 1-4 Day Globe Hop Inez Robb Set for Record Flight

By INEZ ROBB

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—(INS)—When the telephone rang, I was pounding the typewriter eight to the bar and minding my own nonglobal business.

I grabbed the phone. It was the master's voice, as we lovingly call the city editor.

"You are going on a flight around the world," he said briskly. "Certainly. Quite so," I said politely. "When do I leave and from where?"

But in the middle of his explanation, I suddenly dropped the phone, sat bolt upright and screamed to my household:

The man says I'm going to fly around the world! The man says I'm going to fly around the world!"

I sounded like a broken record for 10 minutes—

So, at 5 p. m. on Friday, I leave Washington, D. C., on a 6 1/4-day flight around the world sponsored by the United States Army's Air Transport Command.

Full of serums and covered with visas, I shall step into a C-54 for the first flight of the first regularly established round-the-world air service. Six and one-quarter days later, I shall be right back where I started from. That may not take your breath away, but it leaves mine in short steps.

Because time has been of the essence, I had to take "refresher" inoculations of typhus, typhoid and tetanus, and a regular jolt of cholera on the same day. May I say that during the succeeding 36 hours I strongly felt that I shoulda stood in bed?

All in good time, the Army also obliged with a jab of yellow fever.

I have another dose of cholera coming up and then the Army will permit me to board the plane. I do not believe it plans to spray me with DDT until later.

Then, visas. I am sorry to report that World War II brotherly love engendered by world-wide Allied cooperation and the atomic bomb have done nothing to improve the visa situation. All the lads charged with issuing visas in a variety of consulates are manana boys. They put everything off until tomorrow until murder surges beneath the smile you have pinned on your kisser.

The British consulate was prompt and efficient about my visa. But the charming Englishman who issued it still thinks either the Army or I am mad. He is certain that no one can circle the globe and not touch in more than one of Great Britain's colonies.

But, unless the Army is deceiving me, the only British colony we touch during the whole trip is India. The first round-the-world route includes stops at Bermuda four own Army base there), the Azores, Casablanca, Tripoli, Cairo, Abadan (Iran), Karachi, Calcutta, Luliang (China), Manila, the Marianas, Kwajalein, Honolulu, San Francisco and Washington.

4 Port Heads OK'd; Union Blocks Fitz

Appointment of former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald to a three-year term on the Boston Port Authority was blocked today by a protest from the Atlantic Fishermen's Union and the Governor's Council returned the nomination to committee for further investigation.

Without record the council confirmed four other appointments to the Port Authority. Councilor Joseph Clark of Fall River asked that he be recorded in opposition to Henry J. Nichols, former Boston Chamber of Commerce president, appointed to a five-year term.

Clark said he understood Nichols did not intend to serve the full term.

Capt. Patrick McHugh, secretary-treasurer of the fishermen's union, charged that Fitzgerald was an opponent of labor and fought formation of the union. He was joined in opposition by former State Sen. Thomas Giblin of East Boston.

Confirmed besides Nichols were:

Louis Edgehill of Boston and Wellesley Hills, four-year term; John J. DeMonte of Boston Central Labor Union, two years, and Judge James R. Nolen of South Hadley Falls, one year.

The council also delayed action until Oct. 3 on appointment of William G. Lynch as Judge of Dorchester district court. He was opposed by the Massachusetts Bar Ass'n, which claimed he did not have sufficient experience as a lawyer.

A third appointee who failed of confirmation was Judge of Court of Lynn to the state labor relations board. His nomination was sent back to committee for one week.

Lt.-Gov. Bradford presided at the session in the absence of Gov. Tobin, who is in Montreal.

Senate Acts on Atom, Say Truman for Gift

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Creation of a joint Senate-House committee to study control and use of atomic energy was recommended today by Sen. Vandenberg (R.) of Michigan, setting up a special committee of six Senators and six House members.

Annihilation of U. S. Feared If Rivals Develop Atom Bomb

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 26 (AP)—A majority of the scientists who participated in development of the atomic bomb believe the new weapon confronts the United States with a deadly peril which the general public has failed to realize, Associated Press Science Editor Howard W. Blakeslee said in an address here yesterday.

"Those who have discussed defense with me say that as scientists they can offer no hope of a specific defense against the atomic bomb," Blakeslee told the Nashville Rotary Club.

Blakeslee said his estimate of scientific thought was based on talks with a small percentage of about 1000 research workers who, in one way or another, were connected with development of the bomb.

In those discussions, however, Blakeslee said he had assiduously inquired each researcher's opinion of the views generally held by a majority of his fellow scientists.

That majority opinion, Blakeslee asserted, is that "by using more bombs, larger bombs and more efficient bombs it will be possible in the near future to completely destroy the bulk of the population, industry and military strength of any nation within a few days. Moreover, aviation and rocket developments might enable this to be done in a few hours without possibility of retaliation."

"The only important difference of opinion I have found among scientists is the length of time before other nations will be able to make atomic bombs without getting our secrets of fabrication."

"Estimates of this delay range from five to 20 years. No delay is known about principles of the bomb."

"Without exception, the scientists worked on the bomb with misgivings concerning the ultimate effects."

"They say they have been thinking about the situation longer than their fellow Americans, and they were anxious to present to the public their views concerning the implications of the atomic bomb."

"The consensus among research workers is that the best means of guarding the nation against a sudden, overwhelming atomic bomb attack is not to be found simply in the development of more and better bombs by the United States.

URGES DEFENSES—Introducing a bill in Congress suggesting decentralization of industries and urban population as a defense against atomic bombs, Rep. Leslie C. Areeda (Ill.) also seeks to create a committee of scientists and others to study the problem.

"The future course that most of these men favor is some plan for single world control. They do not specify details. But they say such a control may lose us some of our national sovereignty."

"Some of those who argue this way say our choice is abandonment of our cities in order to survive the next war, or achievement of a really independent and powerful world authority."

Claims Invention Of A-Bomb Destroyer

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 26 (INS)—Jose Cortes Sigaud, famed Brazilian engineer, today claimed he had delivered to Brazilian military authorities complete plans and details of an apparatus which he says will destroy the atomic bomb before it is launched from an airplane.

Sigaud has studied in the United States and France.

The committee, however, reduced from $50,000 to $25,000 proposed expenses for the committee.

President Truman declined to say at a news conference today whether he thought the secret of the atomic bomb should be divulged to other nations. His views, he said, would be contained in a forthcoming message to Congress on atomic energy.

However, the chief executive was reported reliably as in favor of sharing the secret with other nations willing to abide by strict controls.

In this connection, Mr. Truman reportedly was favorably impressed by a proposal by Sen. McMahon (D.) of Connecticut.

McMahon suggested to the Senate the United States, Britain and Canada turn over to the World Security Council what they know of atomic energy in return for all knowledge on other advanced implements of war.

Under McMahon's proposal, the Security Council could inspect all plants and laboratories to see the agreement is kept.

If Mr. Truman recommends something of this nature, indications are it will be studied by a joint Senate-House committee.

Scientists Urge World Control of Atomic Bomb

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 26 (AP)—A group of civilian scientists who worked on the atomic bomb development at Oak Ridge, Tenn., said today the United States must "arrange for immediate control of this weapon by a world authority."

A release was telegraphed to the Associated Press from Oak Ridge by one of the group.

He said the scientists formed an association of "96 per cent of the civilian physicists, chemists, engineers and biologists at the main research and development laboratory at Oak Ridge" and that their views are shared by like groups at Chicago and Los Alamos, N. M.

"We can expect no enduring monopoly of the atomic bomb. Other scientists can apply the fundamental principles perhaps more successfully than we have."

"Other nations, anxious for their own security, will endeavor to develop such weapons . . ."

"Other countries know they can produce such bombs within a few years without detailed technical information from us. The only remaining 'secrets' are technical and engineering details of processes, plants and devices . . ."

"We believe there is only one way open to us as a nation. Every effort must be made immediately to arrange for control of this weapon by a world authority which can exercise complete and effective control of the production of the essential materials and of their use in every country."

British Laborites See New War

LONDON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Daily Herald, organ of the British Labor Party, asserted today "the world is heading with its eyes open for another war."

The Herald said the Council of Foreign Ministers meeting in London "has been dominated throughout by power politics, suspicions and ambitions" and that the Atlantic and San Francisco Charters "seem already to have been forgotten."

Commenting that there is little to distinguish the spirit of international relations today from that of 1919, the Herald said "the peace has begun very badly indeed."

Hub Cop Is Shot In Chelsea Row

Climaxing an alleged fistic brawl in Broadway, Chelsea, early today, Sgt. Thomas E. Keating, 46, veteran Boston police officer, was shot in the head and critically wounded as he sat behind the wheel of his auto.

SGT. THOMAS KEATING
Chelsea Shooting Victim

His alleged assailant, Clarence Emery, 40, of Broadway, pleaded not guilty in Chelsea District Court later in the day to assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill. Judge John W. MacLeod held him in $20,000 double surety for hearing Oct. 10.

Sgt. Keating's two companions, Stuart McDermott of Upland rd., Cambridge, manager of a Boston restaurant, and James Conway of Arlington st., Chelsea, bartender at the restaurant, pleaded not guilty to assault and battery on Emery and were held in $2000 double surety each for hearing the same day.

All three obtained bail later in the day and were released.

Police Supt. Edward W. Fallon, acting commissioner during the absence of Comm. Thomas F. Sullivan at a police convention in Poland Springs, Me., said he would have no comment on the case until doctors at the hospital permitted him and other officials to question Sgt. Keating at Boston City Hospital.

The investigation of the shooting by Police Chief Charles E. Finn and Lt. John J. Kirby of Chelsea, working with Capt. John F. McCarthy, head of Milk st. station, where Keating is assigned, showed the officer met Conway and McDermott after he finished his four of duty and was driving the former home.

Officials said he halted his car in Broadway near the Strand theater and that McDermott and Conway stepped out to get coffee at an all-night restaurant. On their way, it was declared, they became involved in an argument with Emery and the mele started.

The brawl was halted by the arrival of Patrolman John Doherty of Chelsea. As he was taking the names of the adversaries, Emery allegedly ran to the car and fired point-blank at Sgt. Keating.

The wounded officer started to drive away but McDermott jumped in, shut off the ignition and stopped the car as Doherty placed Emery under arrest. McDermott and Conway were arrested by Patrolman Paul Dobbins and Henry Christianison.

Sgt. Keating was taken to Chelsea Memorial Hospital and later removed to Boston City Hospital, where his name was placed on the danger list. The bullet wound is in the left temple.

Fellow officers contacted Keating's wife, Florence, in Taunton where she and their two children were staying on her parents' farm. A police escort was arranged to lead her to Boston, and Mrs. Keating arrived at her husband's bedside shortly after dawn.

The Keatings' Boston home is in Jersey st., Back Bay.

Mrs. Eleanor Hoyt duPont, former wife of A. Felix duPont, Jr., and heirress to the $50,000,000 Galen Stone estate, will wed John Sweetser, Jr., of Boston, the Associated Press said today.

No date has been set but the couple obtained a license at Washington yesterday. Mrs. Philip Shepley, an aunt of Sweetser, said the ceremony probably would take place in the Shepley home there.

Mrs. duPont, who gave her age as 33, was married to the duPont heir in 1931 at an impressive ceremony in the Marion summer home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. (Katherine Stone) Hoyt.

Sweetser, 23, served with the American Field Service in India until several months ago.

School Attended By Polio Victim First to Get DDT

Cushing Primary School, Robinson st., Dorchester, was sprayed with DDT today, the first school to be so treated in a city-wide drive to combat infantile paralysis.

Pupils were sent home early to permit public works and health department workers to disinfect the building. The operation was supervised by Dr. Frederick J. Bailey, health commissioner, who gained considerable experience handling DDT while serving with the Navy.

Mayor Kerrigan ordered every school in the city sprayed following reports that no new polio cases had been discovered since the Hyde Park-Mattapan section was treated recently.

Cushing School was chosen for the first DDT treatment because one of the pupils was a recent victim of polio. Health officials said several cases of scarlet fever had been reported in the building.

Dr. Bailey said classes will be resumed in the school tomorrow, since only a few hours are necessary to "dry out" the building.

The commissioner said he would confer with Rev. William J. Daley, Catholic schools superintendent, to discuss the advisability of spraying the parochial schools.

Found Body in Gallarelli Home

A Medford policeman who testified that he found the body of John E. MacKenzie, 39, ex-convict, in the kitchen of the home of Samuel J. Gallarelli, 24, of Windsor rd., Medford, was the first witness today as the murder trial of Gallarelli in Middlesex Superior Court went into the third day.

Patrolman William A. Sullivan said he went to the house about 11:30 p. m. on Jan. 17 in response to a call from Miss Ann Cefalo, second floor tenant. He said he went first to the Cefalo apartment, where he met Mrs. Provie Gallarelli, the defendant's wife. Sullivan testified that she accompanied him to the kitchen and he saw MacKenzie's body lying on the floor. He said Gallarelli was not there.

Dist. Atty. George E. Thompson told the court that the state would prove the men had known each other a long time, and that a quarrel and physical struggle preceded the shooting. He added that the defendant's voice had been heard and recognized.

Mother of Five Faces Eviction, Can't Find Home

A valiant mother of five who has been fighting for more than a year to retain a home for her children received the knockout punch today when a constable informed her he had a formal notice of eviction against her.

Mrs. Catherine McLeod of Atherton rd., Brookline, has been searching for a fit home for her brood while the one in which she had been living for three years was sold out from under her. She has stacks of mail from real estate agents, all deploring the fact that the housing shortage is still so critical around Boston that they can't find a place for her to live.

She claims the house has changed hands several times and that her present landlord, Benjamin Scharf, is evicting her because, he told her, he could not sell the house while she is living in it with her five children.

The flat below her has been empty since June, she claims, and there is now a "For Sale" sign stuck in the window.

She has been to court twice in her battle and won both times—the court granting her a three months' extension in each case. Now she still hasn't found a flat

Young Jewess Tells Tax Cutters Of Belsen Beatings To Keep Excises

LUENEBURG, Germany, Sept. 26 (AP)—A 21-year-old Hungarian Jewess, Lena Stein, told the court trying the Belsen concentration camp case today an SS woman guard brutally licked a mother found talking to her daughter through wire separating the compounds at Oswiecim camp.

The witness, who explained that the wire was electrically charged and prisoners not allowed to talk to each other through it, said Irma Grese, the guard, played the prisoner until her chest was bleeding.

Youngest prosecution witness yet called, Miss Stein pointed accusingly at nine of the 45 defendants, identifying by name the Grese woman and Belsen Camp Commandant Josef Kramer as those whose brutality she witnessed at Belsen and Oswiecim camps.

She had been sent to the camps for being a Jewess.

Kramer and Grese, she declared, selected the victims for the gas chamber, adding that the former beat prisoners "because they cried or were too slow getting in the truck."

Miss Stein accused another defendant, Karl Klarazich, of shooting one of her friends at Belsen. Black-haired Stanislaw Staroska, the witness asserted, beat women in the two camps "so often they hardly are worth mentioning."

At least another two weeks will be required to end the Belsen trials in the tedious process of cross-examining witnesses and the translation of the testimony in Polish, German and English.

An authoritative source said that other war crime trials in the British zone of occupation would follow, including the trial of Hungarian guards at the Belsen camp who are accused of the cold-blooded shooting of inmates.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Meeting for the first time in 16 years to consider reducing—not booting—taxes, the House ways and means committee voted today to rule out any reductions in excise levies at this time.

Britain to Get Easier Loan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (INS)—A long-term loan of four to six billion dollars, bearing an extremely low interest rate, was reported in official circles today to be the most likely solution of the current talk of American post-war aid to Britain.

The interest rate would be far below the 2% per cent originally mentioned and which the British say they cannot afford. One source said that it might be "little more than enough to pay for printing the bonds."

At the same time it would save Britain the embarrassment of standing hat in hand, looking for a dole, and would undoubtedly be more acceptable to Congress than a grant or loan without any interest.

Hungry Paris Deserts Chic Mannikins for Boiled Eggs

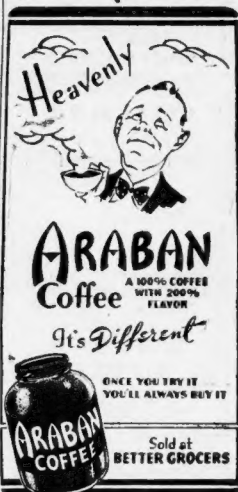

PARIS, Sept. 26—The day has come, forsooth and alas, when the curves of a hard-boiled egg are considered lovelier than those of the most shapely mannequin modeling a daring gown.

Jacques Fath, one of the leading couturiers, is still wringing his hands over the trend, for it was spectacularly demonstrated at his fall fashion opening. About 100 men and women arrived to witness the parade of Fath's mannequins, a comely lot of models they were, too. The guests gave attentive eye to them and all appeared to be going well.

But then came a lackey with a tray of hard-boiled eggs. Eggs are scarce in Paris. The guests turned their backs on the mannikins and rushed in a struggling mass toward the eggs. It was a stampede. The fashion show was forgotten. Ordinarily staid dowagers gave the elbow to their best friends as they maneuvered for positions.

"An incredible display of bad manners," remarked one observer, who had reached frantically for the last egg and lost it to a more agile competitor.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Administration contended today that the average city family has to have $1,950 a year, after paying income taxes, to break even these days.

This report was submitted by A. F. Hinrichs, acting commissioner of labor statistics, in support of a Senate bill to raise the minimum hourly wage from 40 to 65 cents.

Gold Star Mother To Send Buddy Gift

Readers of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser are urged to remember that the Oct. 15 deadline for mailing Christmas boxes to servicemen overseas is less than three weeks away and enrollment in the Christmas Gifts for Buddies Overseas campaign should not be postponed.

Early mailing will assure delivery and lighten the load of post-office workers. As to the joy of making some overseas member of the armed services happy on Christmas Day, one mother who lost a son and has three others in the service wrote:

"I want to send a Christmas gift to a serviceman overseas in memory of my son, S-Sgt. Leroy P. Marchetti, radio gunner, Army Air Force, who was killed in action Feb. 24, 1944, in the European theater. He was listed missing for 15 months.

"I have three other sons in service, all in the Army and one in the Air Corps. Two are now in England. I do hope that whoever the boy is who receives my gift will enjoy it, as I send it with all my heart."

This year, all gift packages are being sent direct to chaplains of all faiths, at divisions and naval bases in both European and Pacific areas. The chaplains will distribute the packages, making certain that no service man or woman is forgotten on Christmas Day. Because of the great number of servicemen being returned from the combat areas, it has been deemed impractical to send a package directly to a specified person.

Labels bearing the name of the chaplain are now in the mails

Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets are free from all harmful chemical drugs. They positively do not contain injurious ingredients of any kind.

3896 Seasick Vets Reach Hub

Buffeted by high seas and gales all the way from Le Havre, the SS Brandon Victory and the SS Dominican Victory made port here today with a total of 3896 veterans, most of them members of the famed 63rd Infantry Division, known as the Blood and Fire Division.

Coming down the gangplank at Commonwealth Pier the soldiers said practically everyone aboard had been seasick throughout the trip.

Among the passengers was Lt. Col. William E. Patrick of the Army Chaplain Corps, a native of Cambridge. A veteran of both wars, Col. Patrick served 4 1/2 years overseas this time. He makes his home in California.

Of the 424 New Englanders aboard, 337 were listed for discharge within the next few days. Greater Boston men arriving included:

Sgt. Robert F. Blair of Harper st., Boston; Sgt. Leo Travers of 1 st., South Boston; Cpl. John Callahan of Guilford ave., Roxbury; PFC George P. O'Connell of 44 st., South Boston; Pvt. John J. Lynn Bars Free Feeds for Guests

As far as Mayor Arthur J. Frawley is concerned there will be no unofficial guests next Monday when officials of his city, Salem and Peabody perambulate their borders.

In former years guests have been invited by the city officials as they made their tour of the border stakes or fences every five years, a custom dating back to colonial days.

After the work was completed, all hands were wont to gather at the festive board, with the communities footing the bill.

Noting this practice cost Lynn $300 five years ago, Mayor Frawley declared today Lynn would pay for only 13 dinners this year, those of the 11 city councilors, city clerk and city engineer.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—Would appreciate your answer to my problem. I was with the Americal Division and recently was discharged from service.

held a job prior to my induction in a plant in Greater Boston. At that time there was no union operating, but two years ago the employees organized and a union shop was formed. I was given my job back and have been informed by one of the union officials that I will have to sign up and pay initiation fee before I can work. What status do I have in this case? L. T. C., Brighton.

A—Selective Service states specifically that a World War II veteran is NOT required to join a labor union in order to obtain his former job. Selective Service states: "Union membership or other conditions not enumerated in the (draft) law may not be required of a veteran as a prerequisite to his reinstatement." If you wish to obtain further information on this matter, suggest you contact local draft board. A Federal District court has upheld Selective Service on a similar issue, and an appeal has been filed in U. S. Supreme Court.

Q—My husband is just being drafted into the Army. We have not lived together for the past two years; am I eligible for the government allowance? K. N., Manchester.

A—You are entitled to receive Family Allowance if you are not legally separated or divorced from the soldier. If there is a legal separation, it would be necessary to have a court order for support in order to receive the Family Allowance. The necessary forms will be furnished upon request to Personal Affairs Branch, First Service Command, Boston 15.

Q—My boy friend is going overseas and says he'll make an allotment to me to save for him. Can he do this? J. B., Roslindale.

A—No, he cannot. The soldier may authorize a Class E allotment only for a relative, a dependent, to be deposited to a bank in his own name or that of a relative or dependent, or for payment of commercial insurance premiums.

Q—Is the mother of a soldier entitled to receive an allotment if she is working and her husband is working? C. O., New Bedford.

A—The mother may receive a Class E allotment from the soldier, that is an amount of his pay to which no allowance is added by the Government. Family Allowance is paid to a parent when the fact of dependency exists, and this fact must be established by certificate before payment is approved and paid.

Q—Can a Rhode Island boy who was inducted into the service receive the Massachusetts State bonus? M. S., Taunton.

A—In order to receive Massachusetts State bonus, the person on whose behalf application is filed must have been a resident of this State for at least six months immediately prior to his induction, and his induction must be credited to this State. The writer may wish to make inquiry to State Adjutant, Providence, for information as to any benefits which may be paid to servicemen by that State.

Q—My husband has been in the Merchant Marine for three years. He is 21 and we have one child. If he leaves the Merchant Marine, will he be drafted into the Army? O. B., Milton.

A—The drafting of a man into the Army comes under the jurisdiction of his local draft board. This is the only agency which can give you information as to whether or not your husband would be subject to induction.

old and his father has never seen him.

The corporal kidded his wife about the curls still in her hair.

"You didn't think I'd bother about them when I heard you were coming?" she asked. "I headed right for the airport."

"Oh, I'm glad you're here!" Finally they reached the hospital and he rushed into the building and up to his mother's room, the other hurrying along behind him.

He entered the room quietly and tiptoed over to his mother's bed where she waited, her face wreathed in a happy smile.

The sister and brothers followed him inside and his wife, after a short wait outside, entered.

Hospital attaches, learning he finally had arrived in time, clustered in the hallway and patients were agog with curiosity.

Cpl. Rausro has 45 days before he must report to Ft. Belvoir.

"I'm going to spend plenty of time with my mother," he said. "And then I'm going to get acquainted all over again with my wife, and make friends with our son."

New Sickness and Accident Plan

Pays $25 Weekly Benefits

Costs Only $12 a Year—Down Payment $2.50
Hospital Benefit Included

Newark, N. J.—The 59-year-old North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago announces a new plan that pays $25 a week for 10 weeks for both stated accidents and sicknesses. Plus an additional $25 a week for 4 weeks for accidents requiring hospital confinement. Yet the total cost is only $12 a year. The purpose of this new Premier Limited Double Duty Policy is to bring sickness and accident protection within the reach of men and women who do not have large savings with which to meet sudden doctor or hospital bills, or lost income.

This new plan also has a double-indemnity feature covering travel accidents. You receive $50 a week if disabled by an accident in a bus, taxicab, street car, train, etc., and $75 a week if the accident requires hospital confinement. There is another new special feature that pays up to $25 cash for doctor bills, even for a minor accident such as a cut finger. In case of death by a common accident, the policy pays one thousand dollars cash to your family. Two thousand dollars if caused by a travel accident.

In addition, it covers many common sicknesses such as pneumonia, cancer, appendicitis, etc., paying the weekly benefits whether confined to home or hospital.

The entire cost is only $12 a year, and that applies to men and women between the ages of 15 and 64 inclusive. Between the ages of 65 and 75 the cost is only $18 a year. Protects you 24 hours a day. No reduction in benefits regardless of age. No medical examination is required.

North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago is one of the oldest and largest Companies in America writing accident and health insurance exclusively. It has paid out over $35,000,000 to grateful policy holders when they needed help most. North American is under the supervision of the Insurance Departments of 47 States and District of Columbia.

Men and women who would like full details about this new plan are urged to write a letter or postcard for a revealing booklet called "Cash or Sympathy." This booklet is absolutely free. It will come by ordinary mail without charge or obligation of any kind. No one will call to deliver it. We suggest you get a free copy by sending your name and address with postal zone number to Premier Policy Division, North American Accident Insurance Co., 830 Broad Street, Dept. 343, Newark 2, New Jersey.

SAVE LIVES

POINTING OUT that six of last week's nine highway deaths in Massachusetts occurred after dark, Motor Vehicle Registrar Rudolph F. King has warned that additional driving hazards will accompany the return to standard time this week-end.

Possibly one in twenty automobile operators will heed the registrar's good advice; the other nineteen will ignore it, as they have ignored all previous statements calculated to make highways safe.

Conditions on our horse-and-buggy roads are never worse.

"Jalopies" that are dangerous at ten miles an hour literally fly through the air.

Children are killed in constantly increasing numbers, and aged men and women are run down almost daily.

Let the Motor Vehicle Registry crack down with might and determination on speeders, regulation breakers and other potential killers.

Let patrolmen go out on the highways all hours of the day and night and do the job for which they are being paid.

The operator who persists in endangering the lives of other persons should lose his driving privileges not for a month or a year, BUT FOR LIFE.

A driver involved in a fatal accident should never again be allowed to touch a steering wheel.

MORE COURTESY

MR. WALTER MORROW, genial president of the American Retail Federation, says there will be no more sass from the lass behind the counter.

The employer is thoroughly disgusted with her. He knows how the buying public feels. And, as soon and the manpower (or womanpower) situation permits, will do something about it.

The treatment of customers and patrons by incompetent, arrogant employees was one of the war's worst aggravations.

Consequently, Mr., Mrs. and Miss America are demanding courtesy as never before, and the emporium which fails to provide it is flirting with bankruptcy.

When they receive the ousting which is long overdue, these clerks who have been snubbing and insulting the people throughout the emergency will probably go on relief and otherwise saddle themselves on the taxpayers, expecting free board, room and clothing from those whose lives they strove so hard to make miserable.

That is perhaps an inconsistency which must be tolerated in the interest of humanity and decency.

But there is no reason why our schools, and particularly our publicly supported high schools, cannot teach good manners with the same enthusiasm and efficiency as they now teach less important subjects.

WORLD FAMOUS

THIE four millionth service man, PFC Joe Kean, 26, of Lynnbrook, N. Y., veteran of 30 months overseas, has passed through the Buddies' Club on Boston Common.

Since its opening on May 10, 1942, this recreational center has been one of the most popular in the world.

Wherever the American flag has been raised in this war and wherever the sons of the United States have fought, the Buddies' Club has been remembered and discussed.

Some day, perhaps, it will be replaced with a permanent monument to the lads who found comfort and contentment under its roof.

Readers of the Record-American-Advertiser whose contributions made possible this great wartime institution should be proud of their achievement.

Why doesn't somebody revive "Oh, How I Laugh When I Think How I Cried About You?" That would be a good theme song for the "Brushed Off Club."

WHISTLE GIRLS: It is considered a breach of etiquette for males to whistle at passing females. Yet there is much to indicate the females, despite the naughty stares many of them assume, are pleased when whistled at. They consider it a tribute to their charms. Also, some women worry because they are not whistled at. Incidentally, here's an idea for a song. Why doesn't some one title one: "When Grandma Was a Whistle Girl?"

GETTING IT RIGHT: "As I have always known you to want to get things right, I want you to have it right about me."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS:
Q: Ever hear a song titled "I Just Couldn't Make My Feelin's Believe?"
A: Believe Sophie Tucker sang that one.
Q: Do you carry a cane while strolling?
A: Only when strolling through the park or when on a hike in the country. And it isn't a cane but a walking stick.
Q: What's your dog's name?
A: Timothy.
Q: Didn't I see you at the 50-dollar window at Belmont Park?
A: No, sir, Not I. I am a charter member of the "Two-Dollar Bettors' Ass'n."

TWINS: Know any twin brothers married to twin sisters? How are they doing? Twins seem to have a desire to marry twins if they can find them. As note the following communication received from a Californian: "I have twin sons. One in the Navy. One in the Army. When they get home they are going to take over my business. Both are single. They are very anxious to marry twin girls but as yet have not met such a combination that appeals to them."

BRUSHOFF: "I was engaged to marry an Army sergeant," writes a Chicagoan. "He was overseas three years. I wrote to him every day. When he returned recently he asked for his ring back. Seems he had fallen in love with a WAC. So while you are shedding tears for the soldiers who have been given the brushoff by wives or sweethearts, maybe you could shed one or two for girls who have been given a similar deal."

PLEASE NOTE: What is the average size of the drink of whisky served in the bars of the United States? Some say it is three-quarters of an ounce; other say one ounce. Anyway, a New England states a place in Boston serves a two-ounce drink of whisky for a reasonable price and has all the best brands available. If the retailer of a two-ounce drink can make a profit those who sell a three-quarters of an ounce drink for the same price must be really nipping up something unusual in profits.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26—I recently asked a Republican whose business is "labor relations counsel" how he could manage to get along in that strange new specialty in competition with New Dealers from the Roosevelt government now operating as trouble-shooters for industry.

His reply might be another lesson in your education in a subject that ominously affects the lives, liberties and livelihood of all Americans.

"Your suspicions could be well-founded," he writes. "I have no positive knowledge of collusion or conspiracy in which the consultant and his old union friends deliberately created a condition in order to solve it—for a fee. Human nature being what it is, or worse, I would not be surprised."

I AM SORRY to suspect that it is sometimes worse. I recall a great "liberal" friend of labor who hopped out of his office to a town about two hours away where union trouble was brewing, knocked over a few drinks with some old pals who were running the union, "negotiated" a small raise and charged the employer $15,000 for his "counsel."

"In a broader sense," the labor relations counsel adds, "what you suspect is true. Many of those who helped create the condition in employer-employee relations from which we suffer are now living handsomely. Some have come from government agencies dealing with some aspect of labor, some from unions, some from both."

"A considerable number of employers have hired such people as regular employees at substantial salaries. Generally, I think, they have not worked out well. Mutual faith and understanding have been hard to achieve. Some have seemed to do what they were hired to do, for a while. They have avoided strikes."

"I have suspected, although I do not know this to be a fact, that they seemed to succeed temporarily by the simple device of giving away the management, piece by piece. There will come a time when there will be nothing to give away."

When the expensively deferred trouble comes, those of whom we have been speaking will return whence they came. It is still true, I believe, that you can't work both sides of the street.

"THIS SPECIALIZED counseling supports a fair number who earn their fees by their knowledge of the real meaning of the laws and regulations, the history and customs of organized labor, the techniques of organization and negotiation, the elements and attitudes in a contractual relationship which discourage and minimize disputes and those which lead to trouble, what management must have to survive and what employees are entitled to."

As a rule, employers are not qualified to deal with the professional whom the unions send to "negotiate." They cannot be expected to be so qualified. They get themselves into bad trouble being too tough, or too soft, or not understanding the real meanings of things they do or say or agree to.

They are as well qualified as anyone to deal with human elements. There is nothing mysterious about human elements. But the technical complexities make it easy to trap an employer who has not devoted to the study of the subject more time than most men with wide responsibilities can afford. Some very innocent and reasonable-sounding phrases in union contracts turn out to have unsuspected meanings when issues arise.

"I, personally, devote considerable time to legislative matters, because much of the trouble called labor disputes is artificial and has its roots in Washington. It is the result of the labor policy of the government, or the lack of a policy and the inconsistencies of the government's attitudes. Labor relations legislation is in a fluid state despite efforts of the unions and their political fronts to freeze the present condition."

"THE WAGNER ACT is not a full expression of public policy."

Those who proclaimed that organization would diminish disputes were fools or liars. Everyone who knows anything about it knows that increased organization leads inevitably to more disputes and strikes.

"I think soon there may be a disposition in Congress to review the results and the effort will be made to work out a full public policy. The fault lies with the timid souls and the unions' kept men in the Senate. The House has shown more sense and courage."

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26—Those two well-loved troupers, Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon, are forsaking grease paint in favor of business careers. Bebe joins Hal Roach in November as a producer.

She will supervise production, select talent and stories. I know of few women as well equipped with the necessary knowledge for picture making as Bebe, who grew up with the business.

Now about Ben. He has been made 20th Century-Fox's talent executive. He will act as a liaison between Europe and America in a job that has endless possibilities. He leaves for England in November. Bebe remains to make her first picture in the U. S. A. Ben, who is greatly respected in London, will be a valuable man for 20th. Bebe, of course, will join Ben after she finishes her first Roach movie.

HERE'S NEWS! According to an authentic source, Jimmie Stewart is not returning to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Through his agent, Leland Heyward, he is serving notice on MGM that he no longer considers himself under contract to that studio. He takes as his legal right to sever the contract the Olivia De Havilland case which stated that no actor can be held for seven years. MGM has always done right by Jimmie in the matter of outstanding pictures and important roles. I hope our brave colonel will reconsider and sign again with the company that helped build him. Jimmie has been off the screen since 1941, when he joined the Army Air Corps.

LT. EDDIE ALBERT was never able to take that trip to New York to marry Margo, because he was kept here on a Navy assignment. Now Eddie goes into Mervyn Le Roy's "Thank God, I'll Take It From Here." That means he is due to be out of the Navy any day. He has enough points and has served with distinction overseas and in this country. His marriage to Margo will take place here in Los Angeles since she has served notice on the "A Bell for Adano" company to come West. Great break for Eddie and Mervyn with Claudette Colbert as the femme excitement in the Le Roy picture.

FIREWORKS ARE popping on "The Concerto" set. Frank Borzage wants to change the name of his protégé, Katherine McLeod, and is launching a campaign for the public to rename her. The kid is balking like a Missouri mule, not that she isn't grateful to Frank for her break, but she says: "I'm an orphan and my name is important to me. Katherine is for one grandmother and Frances is for the other. McLeod's my family name, and when you are an orphan these identities are important." Now, Frank—you're sentimental—and I bet you give in.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Greta Grandstedt was a happy girl when she called me today. She had received word her brother, Theodore, whom she had believed dead since Wake Island, has been a prisoner of the Japs since the fall of Wake. "It just seems too good to be true," Greta said. "He had been an engineer in Honolulu and had been transferred to Wake a few weeks before it fell." Remember Greta at one time had a flurry as "another" Garbo—there was a great similarity in their looks as well as in their first names.

✓ CALLED GAIL PATRICK to check the story she had adopted a baby. That, she told me, was untrue because she hopes to have a baby of her own. But she did tell me her husband, Capt. Arnold White, will be out of the service next week and that he is going into the manufacture of toys. Gail opens her baby shop, and she says, "I am getting a day off from Republic to be there for the opening." She and Frances Lederer are co-starring in "The Madonna's Secret" at Republic, her first picture since she last left town babies.

I SEE where Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace wants the secret of the atomic bomb given to Russia. I have not been able to make up my mind on this one way or the other. But I think we should keep it from New York and New Jersey.

MR. TUCKER'S SHIRT, who once was offered a job as the world's largest midget, arranged to get theater tickets for a visiting tourist the other day. "They will be at the bar office under my monicker," he said. "But do not make the same mistake as another chuckhead did recently. I told him where and how to pick up the tickets. But he called back long after show time to howl they weren't there. I asked what name he had given." "What?" he said. "The name you told me—Mr. Monicker!"

Boston After Dark

HAVING moaned these many years about the lack of writing talent in Boston and Massachusetts, it seems to be no more than fair to report that a prospective fillum called "Cape Cod Doctor" is a possibility for such im-original work. To date, "Cape Cod Doctor" is only a biographical novel, but a good one. Its young author, James Westaway McCue, has written several Cape Cod tomes heretofore. . . . None has attracted the dough-on-the-line attention of movie magnates. . . . But one major studio has made an important bid for "Cape Cod Doctor." . . . "Cape Cod Doctor"—a good title—is based on the experiences of Author McCue's father, who was a country doctor for more than 15 years (in and about Orleans, on the Cape).

INDICATIONS THAT professional football is a foredoomed success in Boston were present on many sides last night. . . . But the truest mox of the game's popularity, we think, came from the knowledge that the gambling fraternity, amateur and professional, was present and active in great numbers. . . . We hear from a reliable source that more money was bet on the opening pop football game than on any baseball game all season. . . . The odds before the opening whistle were even that Herb Kopf's Yanks would win by at least 14 points. The "Yanks" showed up, as the final score was Yanks 28, Steelers 7.

ARTHUR SAMPTON, the good newspaperman who is helming The Yanks, had a wry observation to offer at 2 p. m., six hours before the sell-out game. . . . Said Arthur: "I have been trying all summer to sell tickets for the Yanks' games. . . . And today I haven't got half enough tickets to go around. . . . The thing suddenly caught fire. . . . Why? . . . I don't know." . . . Arthur underestimates his own efforts. The tub-thumping for the Yanks' opener was expertly handled. . . . by Arthur Sampson. . . . And the weather helped slightly.

SOPHIE TUCKER stepped out in a new role early today—that of mistress of ceremonies. . . . The occasion was The Mayfair's Theatrical Guest Night, a weekly Tuesday night event. . . . La Sophie did a wonderful job in her new role. . . . Against the expert competition of Billy Vine, the expert show-stealer current at the Latin Quarter, and Tommy Day, starring at the RKO-Easton, Sophie maintained her poise and her showmanship. . . . Almer the Mosses Vine and Dix had sent a huge audience into spasms, Sophie sang a new song of only moderate potentialities and launched her guests. . . . There is (this, polite!) only one Sophie!

SPEAKING OF POLICE, gossip links the name of a new state apartment with the daughter of a high police functionary. . . . It will make front pages, the story. . . . If true! . . . Merle Talbot, the top-dancing Boston break-dancer, is due for a New York break soon.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. Gen. Hap Arnold is set to resign as head of the AAF before the end of 1945. . . . Pat Farrell, stand-in for the Coast today.

And don't be surprised if Murray Korman, her erstwhile fiancé, is to be named to head a Hollywood wolf in the divorce suit welcomes her at the altar with a hug and a kiss. . . . Joe Louis and Marva have the gamblers betting they'll stage a reconciliation as soon as he gets out of uniform. . . . Loretta Young's mother-in-law is seriously ill. . . . Jack Robbins, one of Carole Landis' former spouses, will wait down the aisle with Ella May Morse. . . . His set is boozebuzzing that Lt. Bob Taplinger made more than three-quarters of a million bucks in Wall st. in the past nine months.

Ann Sheridan

EVERY PICTURE firm in Hollywood is hawk-eyeing the Warner Brothers-Arnold Sheridan case, in which Thurman Arnold is trying to break Ann-Pie's contract. They're sketched. If Arnold succeeds, no contract with any successful star will hold for more than a year. . . . Coin-prodited Betty Langford, the actress, may have to undergo another operation to remove a scar from her forehead. . . . souvenir of her recent auto accident. . . . The Duke of Windsor, before heading Europeward, turned down an offer to write a syndicated column. The British government frowned on the notion. . . . Chsy Patterson has put her Sands front home up for sale. You can wrap it up and take it away for $100,000. . . . Jean Sallen, the French swan champion, will be in Gotham in a fortnight.

LAUREN BACALL and Bogie are planning a HUGE family. Or so she tells chums. . . . An astonishing bequest for poets will be announced in a will to be read within the next few weeks. . . . The Alvino Rays (she's Louise and the King Sisters) are knitting tiny garments. . . . Comedian Bud Flanagan has latched onto the financial backing for an East Side night spot of his own. . . . Brian Aherne and Karen Gaylord are dillygig.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—Great wars and catastrophes often have their ineptions in trivialities. Frequently the personal peccets of individuals are the motivating causes that lead to the slaughter of millions.

Let one man work hard enough at a grievance and heaven only knows how many more it will involve before he is cooled down. The guy with a grudge is always a potential menace.

I encountered a manifestation of this in miniature the other day. Maybe it will strike you as silly, but if you will only think back to the trifling origins of many latter day calamities maybe it won't.

I was taxiing down Sixth ave. in New York when traffic stopped for a red light.

"It's a good thing that guy in the car ahead didn't go on inch over the line," remarked my hacky. "That copper'd have grabbed him in a minute."

"Why?" I asked.

"Because," said my jockey, "the guy's got Jersey plates."

"You mean this copper has some grudge against New Jersey license plates?"

"You said it, brother! He has devoted his life to knocking off Jersey drivers. He plasters them for the slightest thing. Thousands of Jersey drivers won't go past this corner."

I ASKED the driver if the copper could be an expatriate Jerseyman whose love for his native state had turned to hate.

"No," said the hacky. "I don't think so. I think he is from Brooklyn. At least he sounded very Brooklyn to me the last time he gave me a ticket. He just hates New Jersey because of something that happened to him over there."

"You mean the sovereign state of New Jersey treated him ill?"

"Hler."

Traffic started to move again and I looked curiously at the Jersey-hating flatfoot. He was gazing after the Jersey car with concentrated hatred.

"He gets like that every time he sees a Jersey license," explained my driver. "He has dedicated his life to getting even. If it keeps up very long it won't be safe for any New Yorker to drive to Jersey; the war's actually on now, although it ain't been officially declared."

"You mean one portneaded copper is liable to precipitate war between New York and New Jersey?"

"Him and others like him over in Jersey," replied my driver. "New Yorkers get the business in Jersey and we're returning the compliment. New York and New Jersey coppers hate each other like person."

"What person?"

"I didn't say 'poison,' I said 'poison,'" retorted my hacky. "Like arsenic and other deadly poisons. You don't hear very good do you?"

I REPLIED meekly that my hearing was fair, but that I hadn't yet learned the language very good, having only left my native Canada in 1923.

"That explains it," said the jockey magnanimously. "I thought from the first you was a foreigner. Why did you emigrate?"

"The king!" I murmured. "You know—Henry the Eighth! He and his royal assassins used after me. I criticized him for having eight wives!"

"Sure," nodded the hacky understandingly. "Kings is all like that; can't stand criticism. Are they still after you?"

"I don't know," I said, looking around furtively. "I haven't gone back. Henry may be dead for all I know. Have you heard anything?"

"No," said the driver. "I think he's still around. Anyway, he was here at the World Fair in 1939, although, as I remember, he only brought one bread."

This threatened to become a bit thick so I asked what had caused the copper's implacable hate.

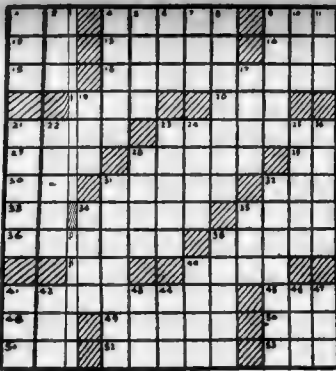

"Well," said my hacky, "he was riding along when a Jersey beagle on a motorcycle nailed him. This copper flashed all his cards and his shield but the Jersey copper said:

"You are no better than anybody else from New York over here."

"You know," added the driver, "that is no way to talk to a Manhattan copper—telling him he is no better than anybody else from New York!"

Lays All His Woe to Woman --Wife; Tale of Stolen Auto

Seeking to recover the auto stolen from in front of his home last December, John A. Salvi of Spruce st., Chelsea, unfolded a tale of woe today in Suffolk Superior Court.

A woman was at the bottom of all his trouble, he claimed, and in this case it was his estranged wife, Genevieve, of Shurtleff st., Chelsea.

After the theft of the car, he said, it was finally "traced" last April to one Mabel DeAngelis of Highland ave., Malden, "an intimate friend" of his wife.

On a writ of replevin in Malden court a deputy attached the car but in May, he charged, his wife and Mabel "appropriated" it.

In further Malden court action, Mabel was ordered to return his car but instead gave it to Genevieve, who sold it to a garage.

The garage, in turn, sold it to a Francis Reynolds of Dorset st., Roxbury, against whom Salvi was seeking an injunction although he agreed the former was more or less an innocent bystander in his tribulations.

Judge Lewis R. Goldberg issued a temporary restraining order and notified all parties to complete pleadings in 10 days.

Noted CBI Units Arrive in N. Y.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—Cheering GIs from the China-Burma-India war theater arrived here today after a 13,000-mile trip on the U. S. S. General Greely.

Units represented included Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault's "Flying Tigers," 10th Air Force; First and Second Air Command squadrons, Merrill's Marauders; Mars Task Force, Army Airways Communication system, 352d Army Engineers; 61st Railway Operating Co 478th and 21st Army Quartermaster Corps; Kachin Rangers; members of the office of strategic services; 48th Evacuation Hospital, 20th General Hospital and 151st Medical Battalion.

Headmaster Court Fight Set for Friday

Judge Lewis C. Goldberg in superior court today decreed pleadings in the school headmaster rating fight be completed by Friday and said the case would be placed on the advanced list for trial.

Coulters Balk At Reconciliation

Judge John V. Mahoney of probate court today continued until next week, the date to be set later, the separate support suit of Mrs. Grace Livermore Coulter, Reservoir rd., Chestnut Hill, against Army Lt. Philemon B. Coulter, former assistant state's attorney of Maryland, a Baltimorean.

She charges cruel and abusive treatment and gross habits of intoxication, asking for custody of their boys, Harris, 12, and Freddie, 10, who are in private schools here.

Judge Mahoney took the boys into his lobby for more than an hour of questioning today, then tried to effect a reconciliation of the parents, but with no immediate result.

Lt. Coulter admitted under cross-examination that he did not think it would be a good thing for the boys to be without their mother, but he said also he did not want them to be without their associations with Baltimore where the family lived before he went to war.

$183,000 Will Contest Opens

The $183,000 estate of Miss Mollie Rapport, Brookledge st., Roxbury, who died Jan. 27, less than two weeks after making her will, became the object of contention in probate court today, when 10 cut off relatives appeared in an effort to prove she was unduly influenced.

Wartime tension and overtime work make relaxation doubly important. Whether fishing or spending Sunday on your own porch, there's nothing like ice-cold Coca-Cola to make a brief rest refreshing. FOR ONE OF THE most flattering suits of the season we give you this William Bass number... the highly favored color combination of black and toast-brown, with deep armholes and tight-wristed cuff... to be worn with or without a blouse. The slim black wool skirt is topped by the toast wool jacket bordered in fanciful scrolls of black braid.

WHILE THE FASHION EXPERTS and the cosmeticians as well as sounding color, color, color as the dominant theme of the new season feminine picture... we'll step right out of line and talk about eyes... not their color, but their framing environs which bespeak fastidious youth or the lack of it.

For what matters if your kissables are splashed with intriguing pure red... if your mouth is a bonfire of artistic definition, if your eyes are centerpiece in a doily of lineal lace? A young mouth with the passionate bloom of red fullness surely is incongruous foil for an eye area that is wrinkled and crinkling and grooved. All the color in the world won't brighten up this focal point... nor remove devastating signs if they are present.

The lyricist who penned, "Your eyes have told me so," probably read a beauty editor's column when he reflected in sentimental ballad, "I saw your eyes, your wonderful eyes." But, then, he was only sounding a modern version of what the poets of old have rhymed for centuries... the power of a woman's glance.

And take it from me... there's no power in a woman's glance if that glance is smothered with tense lines or under-the-eye-puffiness. True the area around the eyes is very delicate. It must not be stretched. It must be treated lightly and discreetly if the consequence of a worried, fretful look that has been indelibly written in the corners is to be wiped off the face. June month and January eye-corners are not good beauty pals.

The eyes are perhaps the most overworked feature of the face. They do more than see. They are constantly on the move... virtually the mouthpiece for our character, our innermost thoughts... for the joys, the sadnesses that come our way. Very few women can deny their importance... or deny them the extra-special attention they need and demand. Of course, if you don't care about the lacy pattern which surrounds them... well, that's another story.

For the gal who does... and they are legion we hope... we offer an eye cream specifically designed to meet the problem of tense lines around the eyes. Gossamer light, it is eagerly absorbed by the skin and just a dot carefully blended may be used under makeup to protect the eye-circling skin from future detriments. Or use it every night before retiring so it may gently smooth, soothe and help your skin retain its youthful resilience to wrinkles.

For the name of this 24-hour eye cream to thwart the manifestations of wrinkles in the corners, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

AS A FLEDGLING model, Lisabeth Scott's blonde hair and patrician profile launched many a new hairdo idea... but as a rising star on the Paramount horizon... her eyes have what it takes to make good as a notable beauty... for hers is an unusual, different, intriguing kind of facial appeal that definitely speaks through her penetrating eyes... framed softly, smoothly and youthfully.

Birthday Fete Army Developed Eating for Health At Night Club

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: My husband and I are planning to have our tenth wedding anniversary celebration at a night club. There will be about thirty-five guests, members of the families and aunts and uncles.

1—The table will, I think, be a square one. Is it proper for my husband and me to sit at the head of the table and have no one at the other end of the table?

2—Is it permissible to write the invitations on postal cards and follow these up with telephone calls? At the night club we have chosen there is a floor show and supper, and we would like to have the guests arrive on time, M. S.

Since you are inviting only members of the families and a few other relatives, I suggest you telephone your invitations, or give them verbally. Then it would be easy to outline your plans and explain the necessity for your guests to arrive promptly. If you wish, follow up these calls by writing notes of "reminder".

Dear Grace:

Bob and I are so happy at the thought of seeing you and Bill on Friday, October 12, at the Club, at 8:30 (promptly, please, so we can see the floor show!).

I love to love you both from both of us.

LUCKY COLOR—Yellow.
LUCKY NUMBER—53.

THE WAR MAY BE OVER, and, for many, the days of rules, regulations and rank, the hours of standing in line forchow, and wearing government issue socks, shoes, ties, etc. But certain aspects of living in the service will stick for many years to come.

Food habits are just one thing. Servicemen became used to a more varied diet because Army and Navy messes introduced them to so many new foods—not that the love of mashed potatoes and apple pie, of course, has in any way diminished. But a majority of our fighting men did learn to enjoy a greater variety of foods than they were formerly used to. Raw salads have certainly increased in popularity, vegetables aren't just tolerated, but are eaten with relish. And with it all a better understanding of eating for health has developed.

Nor was it just an accident that Uncle Sam put peanut butter on all tables—and it won't be just chance that our returned veterans will insist on its continued appearance in their homes. They know it's a high quota of nutrients and its delicious, tempting flavor. So one way to tickle the palate of your returning hero is to serve some of these peanut butter treats.

PEANUT BUTTER MUFFINS

(No Shortening)

2 cups sifted flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup peanut butter
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup corn syrup
1/2 cup raisins, chopped
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in peanut butter. Combine egg, milk and corn syrup and stir into first mixture with raisins, stirring only until all ingredients are moistened. Place in greased muffin tins. Bake in oven of 400 deg. F. for 15 minutes or until muffins are brown and done. Makes 12 2 1/2-inch muffins.

PEANUT BUTTER SALAD DRESSING

2-8 tsp. paprika
2 tsp. vinegar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup oil

1 tsp. lemon juice, or
1 tsp. vinegar

Cream peanut butter, sugar, salt and paprika. Add lemon juice and cream. Blend. Add India relish or finely chopped cucumbers when used on a vegetable or meat salad.

CORNBREAD COFFEE CAKE

1/2 cup sifted flour
1 1/2 cups cornmeal
4 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
2 tsp. sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup shortening, melted

Mix and sift ingredients. Combine eggs and milk and add to flour mixture, stirring until well mixed. Stir in shortening. Turn into greased shallow pan, 8x12 inches, and bake in hot oven (400 deg. F.) about 30 minutes. After the cornbread has baked about 20 minutes, remove from oven and carefully spread the toppings on it. It will bake in the remaining 10 or 15 minutes allowed for the cornbread.

TOPPING

1/2 cup peanut butter
1/2 cup sour cream, or
1/2 cup melted butter
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup salted peanuts, chopped
Blend all ingredients and have

Should Try Again

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

After I received an honorable discharge from the service, I had several dates with the only girl I really love. On our last date I asked her to marry me, but she refused because she's been going with a 4F-or in the three and a half years I was in the service.

I've tried to forget her by going out on gay parties but other girls don't interest me. I want to try again, but seem to lack the courage, not because I think she doesn't care, but somehow to propose to a girl a second time requires more courage than a standup fight with the Japs, which I've gone through successfully.

EX-SERVICEMAN.

You've probably heard the old maxim: "Faint heart n'er won fair lady." And if men did not try, try again after the first turn-down, the world would have a scantier population than it has at present, in spite of war. Rest of luck to you.

Smart New Fall Coat

THE reefer coat or jacket is a very smart fall fashion, and it looks good amid a lot of fanciness fuss and flaring. Nettie Rosenstein, whose name is magic in the fashion world, is making suits with these simple reefer jackets, which, of course, can punch hit as separate wraps anytime. This designer likes such suits of good black cloth worn with very important fur hats, and the result is a recipe for looking wonderful that most women could use.

One of Nettie Rosenstein's suits is sketched. It comes in good black broadcloth and the reefer jacket fastens down the front on small shiny black buttons.

Vet Leader Hits Red Speakers

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Charging that millions of God-fearing Americans were insulted by Communist spokesmen at Madison Square Garden, Monday night, Edw. T. McCaffery, national commander of the Catholic War Veterans, said today the "State Department should demand an apology from the governments of these Communist spokesmen."

"The gathering of Communists and loyal party liners indicated that the Communist party is back doing business at the same old stand, peddling the same old Marxist line, that religion is the 'opium of the people,'" he added.

"The meeting was an all-out declaration against all religion in strict compliance with the teachings of the party and its leaders."

"Recently Harold Laski was busy admonishing us to mind our own business. He should learn to practice what he preaches."

New Teen-Age Play Laugh-Hit at Wilbur

By PEGGY DOYLE

George Abbott and Clifford Goldsmith, who are admirably skilled in translating the 'teen-aged generation into theater, have partnered their talents in the new Wilbur Theater comedy.

"Mr. Cooper's Left Hand," in which Hollywood's Stuart Erwin and Katharine Alexander head the typically competent Abbott-directed cast of the Goldsmith play, bears a striking family resemblance to "Junior Miss" and "Dear Ruth." And if this sounds like a left-handed compliment, it is only fair to note that the sounds in the night were also on the familiar side . . . you know.

BETHEL LESLIE

the same contagious laughter and hearty applause that have ushered in so many Abbott comedy and farce box office hits.

His newest production, which Mr. Abbott is presenting in association with Richard Myers and which he also directed, gets off to a happy start, carries along briskly, then lags to a finish that came 20 minutes too late.

Be that as it may, this comedy is a laughing entertainment in the strictly domestic line. Its plot stems from the well-meaning if highly mischievous machinations of a very precocious junior miss. It is excellently written blithely humorous and reeks with bright ideas with which any fairly bright junior miss might throw the family into a state of confusion.

Lorna Lynn, the little angel face of Ethel Merman's "Panama Hattie" and now a stage-wise young actress with yellow braids and an eye-wink, is the junior miss who "helpfully" maneuvers her family into what Sean O'Casey has described as a "state of chaos."

Specifically, the victim of her good intentions is her older sister, who is played with a great deal of charm and sincerity by Bethel Leslie. A brown dress the latter believes to be unbefitting to her is the camel back-breaking straw. The younger sister, with backing, best intentions, invents a corporal who saw her sister in the drugstore and said, "My, what a becoming dress!"

This little white lie, before the day is over, has blizzed the Cooper family's contentment and peace, as well as detoured "Papa" Cooper from his office duties for the day. There comes a time during the day's corporal-stalking occupations when Papa and Mama Cooper are not speaking. The action proceeds at a brisk clip, constantly and laughingly reminding parents of growing girls in the audience of similar, upsetting developments that weren't funny then.

Enough "corporals" for a congenial turn up for the elder Cooper (Lynn's date and the younger Cooper girl takes them for a loop in a game of stud-poker.

Miss Leslie's Margorie Cooper, youthfully desperate to be desirable, is a delightfully accurate character study. Little Lorna Lynn's Ellen Cooper is the season's most disarming imp.

Erwin, who not so long ago finished a fantastically long "Chesapeake" in "Good Night, Ladies," and was seen here in a Guild production we've all agreed to forget, is most happily cast. And so, too, is the darkly handsome Miss Alexander, whose Mrs. Cooper is a maternal match for her engaging mother in Mr. Abbott's highly successful "Kiss and Tell."

St. Clements Lost Six to Arme Forces

By MIKE GILLOOLY

At the close of the 1944 season, St. Clement's High School football followers visualized a possible sweep of this fall's opposition.

After all, Coach Ken Brannock had 10 of 11 veterans returning from the little Somerville outfit that tied Malden Catholic for the Catholic League championship—the first time to threaten MC's supremacy since the start of the circuit.

But the bubble of prosperity burst right in the face of the title contenders as, one by one, the boys who were to make up this classy outfit departed for the armed forces.

Out of this original 10, Coach Brannock had only four boys remaining when he issued his call for grid candidates. As a result the boys were slated to hold down reserve positions have all moved up to starting assignments. And with only two seniors on the first team, it's easy to see why St. Clement's has downgraded its first two games of the schedule (Claremont, N. H., 21-0, and La Salle, 32-0).

Just picture where Coach Brannock's triple-offensive crew would be sitting right now if Roy Robitello, 180-pound center, wasn't in the Navy; or if Bill Haggerty, 6.5 inch, 195-pound tackle, hadn't donned the blues; or if Vin Monacoe, 169-pound end and Jim Dwyer, 165-pound sophomore end or William "Buddy" Callahan, 189-pound tackle, hadn't followed the course that led down to the sea. Or if big Jim "Moose" Fahey, 215-pound fullback weren't in the Army paratroopers!

Coach Brannock had his period of weeping. Then, he realized that he still had material on his hands to mould into a team. And although his little group has lost two in a row, they'll come fighting back Friday night for the test against Keith Academy under the floodlights at the Lowell Stadium.

The loss of those linemen, with all their weight, left St. Clement with a much lighter line than anticipated with only guard Joe Small, 175-pound junior, and center Charles Doherty, 165, as veterans. So Coach Brannock has filled in with underclassmen so that he'll have the experienced material for next season.

On the ends, Phil O'Flaherty, 175-pound junior, and Bob Bowlding, 155 and a junior, have clinched their berths. Sophomore Charlie Cullen, 165, has looked great at one tackle while Fran Mahoney, 165, and Andy Cleary, has taken over the other tackle slot. Frank DePinto, 155-pound junior, will complete the starting line against Coach Spencer Sullivan's Keith club.

Quarterback Joe Regan, 175-pound captain, is the only other senior on the first team. He'll be working the T, single and double wing offensives with co-captain and junior Bill Connolly, Jack McKinnon, 165-pound sophomore triple threat, and Ken Hartigan, junior, 175-pound fullback.

Other St. Clement's boys who will be seeing plenty of service include: Ends—Jim Wise, Steve Gardella, Joe Stanford; tackles—Joe Mullen, 239-pound freshman; Joe Elliott, Ed O'Brien; guards—John Ryan, John Monahan, Joe Lonnigan, 135-pounds, centers—Jim Barry, Fred Shannon, Dave Landry; backs—Joe Cleveland, Roy Cochrane, John DeGregory, Art Colbert, Bernie Dwyer and Ken Carraw.

St. Clement's schedule, after Keith, later: (at) Wrentham, Oct. 6; (at) Immaculate Conception of Revere, Oct. 14; Cathedral, Oct. 21; St. Mary's of Waltham, Oct. 28; Mission, Nov. 4; (at) Lawrence Central Catholic, Nov. 11; (at) Somerville, Nov. 17; (at) Malden Catholic, Thanksgiving Day.

Yanks Make Big Hit Despite Poor Lights

By BILL GRIMES

There were approximately 30,000 within the confines of Fenway Park last night, and of that vast gathering, more than 25,000 paid for the privilege of watching the Yanks purge the Stealers.

But until such a time as regulation football lights are available, the Yanks should not indulge in any more night games. The lights at Fenway Park were a joke, especially to the keen followers of the gridiron pastime.

Coach Herb Kopf's pickin' chasers have three more home games—the Washington Redskins, Detroit Lions and the Green Bay Packers which are the best attractions of the National Football League has to offer.

And fortunately for the cash customers, not to mention owner Ted Collins' investment, the remainder of the Yanks' home contests will be played on Sunday afternoons.

As far as we saw, the Yanks had a decided edge on the Stealers. They managed to score one touchdown in each period. They played, for the most part, open football and the crowd was thrilled by the sensational running of Johnny Martin, Bob Davis and Johnny Griggs and the line plunging of "Pug" Manders.

It was impossible to follow any of the line play but the consensus is that Coach Herb Kopf has the makings of a winner.

Kate Smith sang the National Anthem before the opening kick off and was tendered an ovation. As usual, Kate was in good voice.

Before the game, Manager Joe Cronin and Dave Ferriss were in conference in the boss' office. Could Dave have signed his 1946 Red Sox contract?

Cy Titus, the former Holy Cross center who recently returned from the Pacific where he served 19 months with the Marines, will be signed to a Stealers' contract. He came here to try out for the Yanks!

Rich Purses at Gansett As Meeting Nears End

By JACK CONWAY

WILLIAM HELIS intends to send Olympic Zenith to Narragansett Park on Saturday to compete against Spangled Game, Scottsville, Valdina Craft, F. B. I. and British Buddy in the $7,500 King Philip Handicap which will feature a charity day of racing for the United War Fund. This race will be over a distance of one mile and one sixteenth and it is expected to furnish keen competition.

Ring Fixers Get Year in Jail

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26 (INS)—The gambling gentry was warned today to keep clear of San Francisco sporting events or face jail sentences.

The warning was voiced by Superior Judge Kaufman when he sentenced two convicted fight "fixers" to a year in county jail.

In what was believed to be the first case of its kind in sports history, Judge Kaufman sentenced Abe Phillips, San Francisco dance hall operator, and Charles Kelson, Los Angeles fight trainer, to a year in jail and, in addition, fined Phillips $1000.

The jury which convicted the two men heard Jackie Cooper, a fighter, testify that he was offered amounts varying from $1000 to $7000 to "lay down" in a bout with Freddie Dixon last Washington's birthday in San Francisco.

Referee Toby Irwin threw both fighters out of the ring in the seventh round of the bout, declaring it no contest.

Helis, millionaire New Orleans business man, has invested hundreds of thousands of dollars in thoroughbreds during the past three years. He is determined to secure a winning stable regardless of cost. In recent weeks, the Helis colors have been coming down in front in numerous important races.

Helis was at mentioned in connection with the Tom Pappas group which considered purchasing Suffolk Downs prior to the time the East Boston track became the property of the Alford Investment Trust.

Ray Metcalf has Spangled Game in top form again as this thoroughbred proved by winning the feature at Narragansett Park last Saturday.

The Old Mill Handicap, a six furlongs dash, will be the secondary feature on Saturday. The list of starters is expected to include West Fleet, who evened his score with Johnny Jr. on Saturday, Jo Agnes, Shiny Penny, Ogham and Quien Es.

THE $25,000 Narragansett Special will be held on closing day, Oct. 6. There will be a bonus of $3000 for the trainers. The distance of the race will be one mile and three sixteenths and it is expected that First Fiddle, winner of the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap, British Buddy, Olympic Zenith, Adonis, Pindus, Gallorette, Alexis, Scottsville, Castleman and Spangled Game will be starters.

The $10,000 James H. Connors Memorial race, a six furlongs dash, will be held on the same day. Air Rate, which has won $7020 while remaining undefeated in six starts, will compete, and will have as opponents Lady Gunner, the highly regarded Air Hero and other crack two-year-olds.

There will be purse distributions of $62,000 on closing day, says Judge James E. Dooley. These are prosperous days for the horsemen with all race tracks offering top purses.

Dartmouth Is Favorite

DARTMOUTH IS a favorite to win from Holy Cross in their football clash at Hanover on Saturday. The Big Green has a powerful team, and would like to get revenge for the 6 to 6 tie game played with Holy Cross a year ago. On that occasion Dartmouth was the choice, and the Crusaders scored an upset.

Stan Koslowski, Holy Cross captain and brilliant back, will be Dartmouth's chief worry. Koslowski is one of the best backs in the country, and he is certain to make many long gains.

This contest will be the stand-out affair of the day in New England.

Exterminator, Winner of 1918 Derby, Dies at 30 Years

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—Exterminator, winner of the Kentucky Derby in 1918 and 49 other races in 100 starts, died at Sun Briar Court today. The horse, adjudged by Col. Matt Winn the greatest all-round thoroughbred in American racing history, was 30 years old.

The son of Imp, McGee was buried today beside his old stablemate, Sun Briar, in LaFrance's pet cemetery here.

Mrs. Willis Sharpe Kilmer, widow of the eminent breeder and racer, of thoroughbreds, had maintained "Old Bones" in regal fashion at her Riverside Drive farm. Every year she gave a birthday party, which drew hundreds of children. Many brought gifts—carrots, apples, sugar and other dainties fancied by horses.

In the 1918 Kentucky Derby with Willie Knapp up, Exterminator ran the field into the ground and soon became the greatest cup horse in America. In 1920 he won 10 of 17 races, six in a row. Exterminator's total winnings, from his initial start as a two-year-old at Latonia in 1917 to the end of the 1924 season when he was retired, amounted to $252,596 and, stakes were much smaller than they are today.

It was in 1920 that Exterminator set up a record of 3:21 4-5 for two miles at Belmont in winning the Autumn Gold Cup. The mark still stands as the American record for the distance.
